

2770.4300 EFFECT ON STATUTES OF LIMITATION.

Submission of a case to arbitration under these rules shall have the same force and effect as to reparation obligors with regard to the applicable statute of limitations as if litigation has been instituted. Further, if a matter within the compulsory provisions of these rules is inadvertently placed in litigation, the discontinuance of such litigation for the purpose of arbitration will be considered as a submission to arbitration with regard to the applicable statute of limitations as of the date such litigation was instituted.
