2.724 CHIEF JUSTICE OF SUPREME COURT, DUTIES.

Subdivision 1. When public convenience and necessity require it, the chief justice of the supreme court may assign any judge of any court to serve and discharge the duties of judge of any court in a judicial district not his own at such times as the chief justice may determine. A judge may appeal his assignment to serve on a court in a judicial district not his own to the supreme court and the appeal shall be decided before the assignment is effective. Notwithstanding the provisions of this subdivision, no judge shall be assigned to serve on a court in a judicial district which is located more than 50 miles from the boundary of his judicial district for more than 15 working days in any 12 month period, unless he consents to the assignment.

A transferred judge shall be subject to the assignment powers of the chief judge of the judicial district to which he is transferred.

Subd. 2. To promote and secure more efficient administration of justice, the chief justice of the supreme court of the state shall supervise and coordinate the work of the courts of the state. The supreme court may provide by rule that the chief justice not be required to write opinions as a member of the supreme court. Its rules may further provide for it to hear and consider cases in divisions, and it may by rule assign temporarily any retired justice of the supreme court or one district court judge at a time to act as a justice of the supreme court. Upon the assignment of a district court judge to act as a justice of the supreme court a district court judge previously acting as a justice may continue to so act to complete his duties. Any number of justices may disqualify themselves from hearing and considering a case, in which event the supreme court may assign temporarily a retired justice of the supreme court or a district court judge to hear and consider the case in place of each disqualified justice. At any time that a retired justice is acting as a justice of the supreme court under this section, he shall receive, in addition to his retirement pay, a further sum, to be paid out of the general fund of the state, as shall afford him the same salary as an associate justice of the supreme court.

Subd. 3. The chief justice of the supreme court may assign a retired justice of the supreme court to act as a justice of the supreme court pursuant to subdivision 2 or as a judge of any other court. The chief justice may assign a retired judge of any court to act as a judge of any court except the supreme court. A judge acting pursuant to this subdivision shall receive pay and expenses in the amount and manner provided by law for judges serving on the court to which the retired judge is assigned, less the amount of retirement pay which the judge is receiving.

Subd. 4. The chief justice shall exercise general supervisory powers over the courts in the state. His powers shall include, but not be limited to:

(a) Supervision of the courts' financial affairs, programs of continuing education for judicial and nonjudicial personnel and planning and operations research;
